ABOUT AUDUBON ROCKIES

Where birds thrive, people prosper.

A nonprofit conservation organization since 1905, the National Audubon Society believes in a world in which people and wildlife thrive. Audubon Rockies is the regional office of the National Audubon Society for Colorado, Wyoming, and Utah. Using science, outreach, and policy, we holistically address the core threats facing birds in our region. We are an inclusive, nonpartisan bird conservation organization that collaborates with diverse stakeholders in order to find solutions that better birds and communities.

OUR AUDIENCE

Audubon Rockies reaches a large following of Coloradans, Wyomingites, and Utahns passionate about birds, gardening, and the environment. Habitat Hero is a particularly popular program of ours. The audience is predominantly women aged 50-60 who are passionate about birds, plants, and gardening. They are actively looking for products and services to make their gardens and households more environmentally friendly.

WHY BIRD-FRIENDLY GARDENS ARE CRITICAL

Planting a better world for birds and people.

As our communities grow, the native plants that birds, pollinators, and other wildlife depend on are vanishing. Fortunately, we can do something about it.

Planting native plants in residential gardens and public spaces is a simple but powerful way to help our diminishing bird populations come back to life. Native gardens not only provide food and shelter for birds and other wildlife, they also conserve water and eliminate chemical fertilizers and pesticides. Vibrant and full of life, they make our communities healthier and more beautiful.

Audubon Rockies's Habitat Hero program provides people, businesses, and cities with the resources to create bird habitat in their own communities. With your support, we will help more people in Colorado, Wyoming, and Utah how become bird-friendly gardeners. We'll expand our network of trained outreach volunteers. We'll pioneer large-scale gardens incorporated into solar farms and neighborhoods. Together, we can weave together a landscape for wildlife.
